Professional Profile

A musical in client Malaysian, born in 1959, CG started his musical talents since his school days participated in the military band as trumpeter, drum major, conductor cum arranger. Being a self-taught guitarist, he further his musical interest by joining Yamaha Music Malaysia as sales manager for 3 years immediately after academic education.

Being a passionate musician, CG changed his profession from sales to performing artist as an electone organist performing in hotels and events; at the same time acted as a private music instructor teaching organ and keyboard.

Further to his musical line of profession, he started to form a company catering sound & light equipment rental and became a show and event organizer providing services to all kind of activities. One of the remarkable job was providing sound system for all 20 stadium venues of the XVI Commonwealth Games 98'.

Public appearances make CG a well known industry professionals leading him to another professional sector in becoming an installer and designer for fix installation work.

CG has designed and installed more than hundreds of small to big job in Malaysia and China, particularly houses of worship as the most complex one of its kind. He was the Bronze price winner of Yamaha Pro Audio Project Design Contest Asia organized by Yamaha Music Japan in 1999.

During 2002, China Entertainment & Technology Society(CETS China) invited him as one of the speakers to lecture in a professional audio project installation seminar by sharing his experience to all the top project companies all over in China.

From then onwards, CG has become a renown audio professionals in China and he started to provide his services in audio product design, production and engineering work to China base companies.

He was employed as the General Manager by P. Audio Thailand to manage a 50,000.00 sq.meter professional audio factory dealing with all the world famous branded OEM business. After setting up the factory for good, CG left the job and became an individual consultant providing audio related services & engineering work for pro audio industry.

In conclusion, CG has a very wide experiences from sales to education, educational to artist, event organizer to designer, manufacturing to consulting; that mold what he is today.
